Tangly FAMILY

Mom and Dad are going for a date

WRITTEN BY BARBARA SUPEŁ

ILLUSTRATED BY AGATA ŁUKSZA

Jenny and Stan (like most children, probably!) are very curious about what their parents do when they're not looking after them. And they're even more curious about what they do when they go on a date. They probably kiss – yuck! – but what else? That's what the children will find out in this book.

Special Valentine's Day edition.

ZARAFa

The Story of the Giraffe the World Heard About

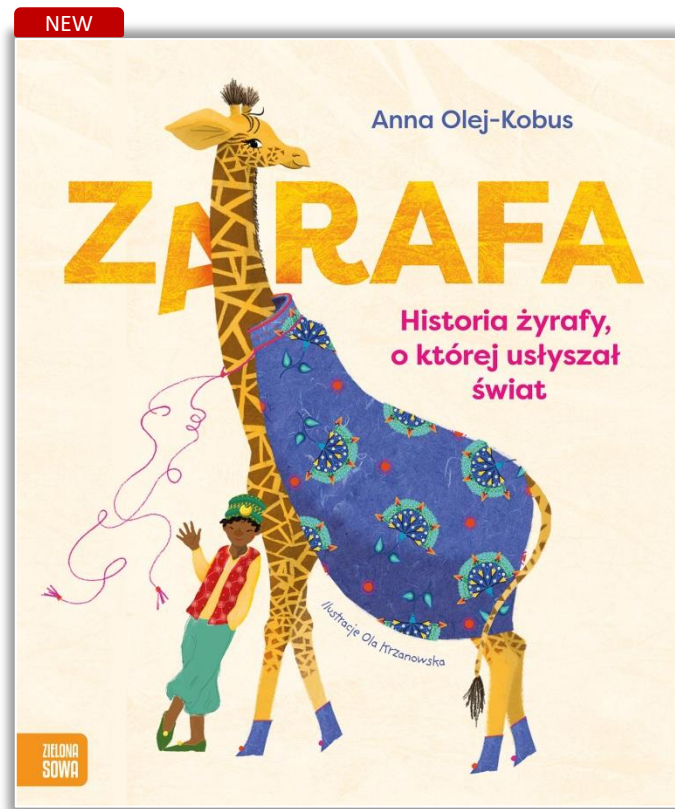

WRITTEN BY ANNA OLEJ-KOBUS

ILLUSTRATED BY OLA KRZANOWSKA

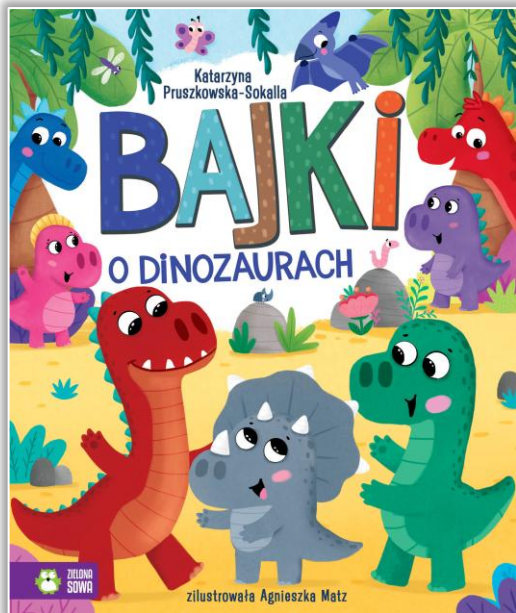

A true story that reads like a fairytale.

Imagine a giraffe in a cape and... boots, walking all the way from Marseille to Paris, causing a sensation in every village it passed. This is the incredible true story of Zarafa, the first giraffe in France, a gift for the king, and a spectacular addition to his royal menagerie.

The book is a fascinating, beautifully illustrated book that blends the tale of an exotic gift with a ton of surprising facts about giraffes. Inside, you'll discover why a giraffe's tongue is black-purple, what its spots have in common with fingerprints, and how trees can actually outsmart a hungry giraffe!

THE TREEHOUSE GANG

WRITTEN BY KASIA KELLER

ILLUSTRATED BY ELISABETH CLOVER

The holidays are just around the corner!

In the center of the town square stands a magnificent Christmas tree, and at its very top, just as every year, rests a splendid star. The townspeople are incredibly proud of it, not only because it was crafted by one of their very own, the famous sculptor, Mr. Irons – but also because it has announced the coming of Christmas for nearly a hundred years, becoming a cherished local symbol.

But then, disaster strikes! Shortly after St. Nicholas Day, the star vanishes from the tree. The entire town, adults and children alike, is shaken by such a brazen theft. Everyone is hoping the priceless treasure can be found before Christmas Day. It's a race against time, and the detectives from The Treehouse Gang are on the case!

Murkling

WHO STOLE THE CHRISTMAS STAR

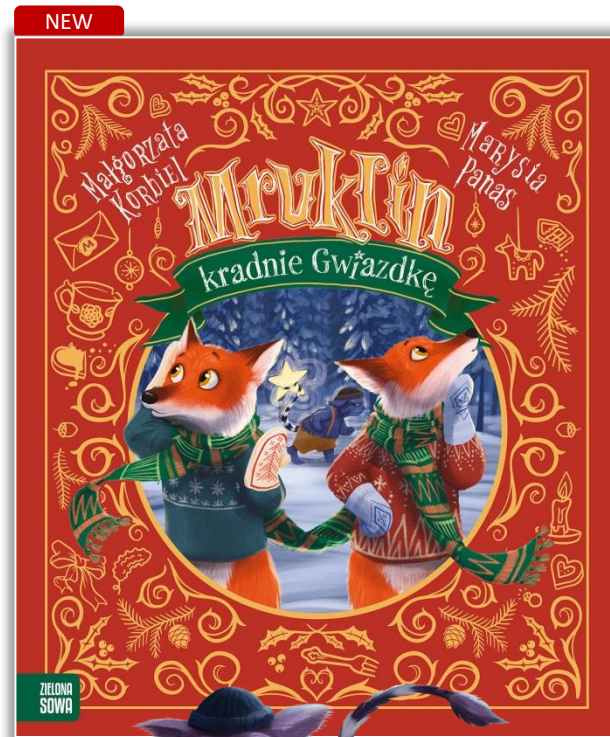

WRITTEN BY MAŁGORZATA KORBIEŁ

ILLUSTRATED BY MARYSIA PANAS

The magic of Christmas is blossoming in Sprucewood Forest, where two adorable fox siblings, Pip and Poppy, are cheerfully delivering invitations for the grand holiday party. But not everyone is filled with cheer. Deep in a nearby cave lives Murkling, a lonely little creature who, in his sadness, decides to make Christmas disappear. He steals the forest's most precious treasure – the shining Christmas Star.

When Christmas Eve morning arrives, the animals are horrified to discover that without the Star's light, Santa Claus will never find his way to them. Pip and Poppy set out on a search that leads them to Murkling's cave. But instead of anger, the little foxes offer him understanding and... an invitation.

This is a warm and moving tale about empathy, the power of friendship, and how no one should feel alone during the holidays. It teaches children that the true magic of Christmas is found in an open heart and a welcoming hand, and that the greatest gift of all is being together.

SPIKEY THE HEDGEHOG'S Christmas Journey

WRITTEN BY KATARZYNA PRUSZKOWSKA-SOKALLA

ILLUSTRATED BY AGNIESZKA ANTONIEWICZ

When Spikey's cousin arrives from Africa, all the animals are excited! They plan to involve Bobo in their Christmas preparations so he can feel the magic and learn all about their traditions. But one morning, Bobo disappears. His tracks in the fresh snow lead to the Great City - a place the animals have never visited.

They've heard stories about this place: strange machines on big wheels that can run you over at any moment, a terrible noise that hurts your ears, and a strange smell that's neither food nor forest. Some animals are too scared to go, but Spikey insists he must help since Bobo is his guest. In the end, they all set off for the Great City together.

THE SANTA CLAUS BROTHERS

WRITTEN BY LESZEK TALKO

ILLUSTRATED BY ŁUKASZ SILSKI

Elf Elmo gets hired in Santa Claus Documentation Department. Elmo's task is to compile a list of children waiting for gifts from around the world and then deliver it to the appropriate Brothers (and Sisters) of Santa Claus. Each year, everyone works together in harmony toward a common goal – happy children.

However, one of the brothers is thoroughly tired of living in the shadow. Stanley finally plans to be the Santa Claus, not just some helper. Unfortunately, Elmo will have his hands full when he discovers the mess Stanley has made in the paperwork.

- Christmas story sprinkled with humour.
- Big, colourful illustrations.

SANTA'S BACK!

WRITTEN BY LESZEK TALKO

ILLUSTRATED BY SILVÈRE TRICOIRE

Santa has lost his faith in people. He works for a company that employs dozens of Santas for commercial work in shopping malls. It is there that he meets Amelka—a girl who, like him, no longer believes in the magic of Christmas. The sad story of the girl rekindles in Santa a long-forgotten light and hope.

- The book is great for independent reading by children, and also for reading with an adult.
- A Christmas story with a wonderful message.
- An alternative to classic stories about Christmas.
- Fun, colourful illustrations that complement the reading experience.

FOREVER A DREAM

WRITTEN BY KAROLINA KLIMKIEWICZ

Nessa had always felt like she didn't quite fit into the modern world. After all, not many sixteen-year-olds avoid social media, devour old romances, and befriend a tamed raven like she does.

One winter day, Nessa finds a letter on the street. The recipient's address has blurred in the snow but the sender's name is still legible: Landon Northwode. Despite the pre-Christmas rush, she decides to send the letter back and include a few words of her own.

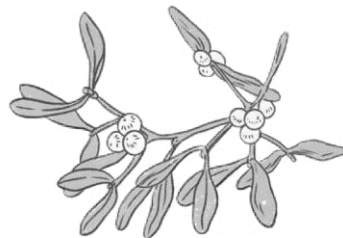

In his reply, Nessa learns that Landon is only slightly older than she is. How extraordinary that he sends paper letters! Thus begins their exchange of messages, and with each opened envelope, Nessa's heart beats faster. But why does it seem like Landon is hiding something from her?

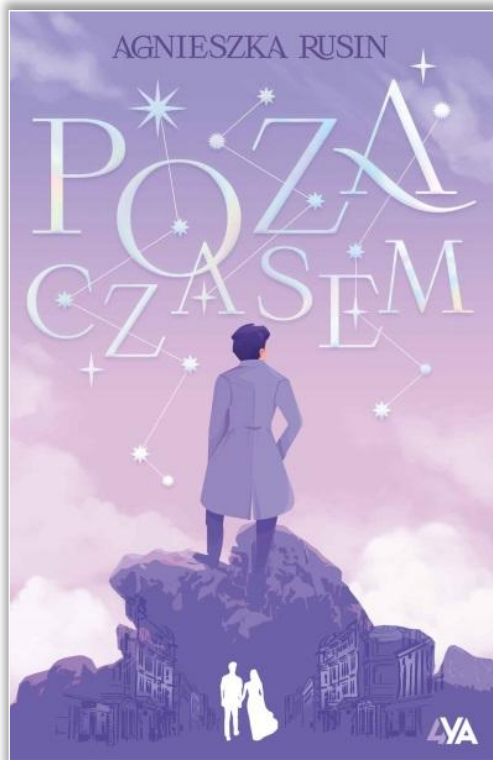

It's a magical story about first love, the struggles of a teenager, discovering one's identity, and finding the courage to make life-changing decisions.

FADING

WRITTEN BY JUSTYNA LEŚNIEWICZ

Marlene, a high school girl, is shy and sensitive. At school, she is bullied and mocked. Furthermore, her mother is a perfectionist who wants Marlene to get only good marks, even in Math, which is problematic for the young girl. Tom, Marlene's older brother, is always there for her but now he has left Poland for a foreign scholarship and they only talk online.

Marlene wants to be accepted, attractive and loved. At some point, she notices that controlling her weight is the only thing she is good at. She falls into a trap of eating disorder: lies, punishing herself for eating more than her limits of calories, running obsession and sneaking out at night. Besides, there are also good things that happen – she meets Miśka with whom she becomes best friends. Then, Marlene meets Hubert who seems to be so different from her and, at the same time, so attractive. ..

- A story about having one's demons.
